

ANATOMY OF EVIL

COPYRIGHT

(C)

2014

BY

W C VETSCH

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

DEFINITIONS

Let us begin with the standard definitions of good and evil from IGC law. Actions which support and contribute to the purpose of the Creation are considered good. Actions which interfere with the purpose of the Creation are considered evil. The purpose of the Creation is to provide a suitable environment for the positive evolution of Souls. There is no other purpose.

Actions which are deliberately designed to interfere with the Spiritual development of an individual are considered to be Spiritual crimes.

KIDNAPPED PLANET

Stories surface from time to time of young people - usually girls - kidnapped and held for years by some guy. When we hear these stories, we naturally feel that a great wrong had been done. Someone has lost their right to a potentially happy and fulfilling life because a selfish and greedy person decided to rob them of this opportunity. We feel that the culprit should be punished.

What most do not realize, unfortunately, is that we all live on a "kidnapped planet". A small group of clever, evil and very selfish people have conspired to rob us of our legitimate right to knowledge of truth. Consequently, we are born and live in a manufactured, degraded and backward culture filled with needless hardships and miseries so that this tiny group can feel the "thrill" of capturing Souls and holding them prisoner.

WHAT A TANGLED WEB WE WEAVE

"What a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive"

When you have been actively deceiving locally for over a hundred years and globally for perhaps thousands of years the "tangled web", as you might guess, is tremendous. So is the cost. You wonder why the government feels it needs to intercept every electronic communication everywhere on the planet all of the time ["Total Information Awareness"]. Society, although severely handicapped by propaganda, has reached a stage of development where things hidden for years keep resurfacing. Every time they do, spooks from the government have to immediately detect this and do whatever is needed to protect the illusion they have worked so hard to create.

They spy on everyone and everything. There is a cute story from the American Movie Classics channel from years ago. A commentator gives brief remarks before each movie. This fiction movie featured a time machine. The commentator casually remarked that the writer's original script had to be changed because government agents learned of the script and believed his fictional time machine could actually work. Obviously, the only way they could know this would be if they already had a time machine and so knew what worked and what did not. Anyway, government spooks went to see the writer and persuaded him to let them redact his script so that his machine could not possibly actually function. Obviously, he complied. Otherwise we would have never heard of him or his film because everything would have "disappeared".

There are literally thousands of suppressed inventions which would, if known, catapult humanity into a new age. There are suppressed cures for essentially every known disease that, if known, would guarantee health and long life to everyone. Dedicated individuals, falsely believing that the powers that be wish the fate of humanity to be improved, are constantly rediscovering these things. Therefore, government agents are constantly detecting them, hunting them down and doing whatever is needed to silence them. It is a daily event. A group known as "FBI Division 5" goes out and kills hundreds of people every day because they know too much and might speak out. It is a routine, ongoing purge. That is why they spy on everyone. The people they are looking for are well meaning souls who believe sincerely in helping humankind. Generally, they see no reason to hide. They are unaware that the rulers do not want humanity uplifted. They want things to stay exactly the way they are. Many times this costs them their lives.

When too many people begin to discover a suppressed secret, the government resorts to "begging". For example, there is enough public knowledge available now for students of physics to correctly guess the secret of cold fusion. Since they have not agreed to accept a security clearance, they can't be legally prosecuted. And, you would not want to kill off all the bright young physicists. This has resulted in government agents gathering up these people and begging them to please not make what they know public.

As global communication becomes commonplace, it is increasingly difficult to keep the lid on all of the thousands of things the elite have kept hidden from the masses. However, they do not want to give up. They are willing to dedicate incredible money and resources to continue to suppress key facts which would allow humanity to advance. All you have to do is to look at the complexity and cost of surveiling everyone on the planet all the time. However, the elite obviously feel that any expense is justified when the unthinkable alternative of an enlightened general population operating on a level playing field with them would be the cost of failure.

IMAGINATION LAND

The world you have come to know is not real. The ground is really there and there are plants and animals. However, there are many things you can't see and most of what you do see and, in fact, are encouraged to see, is a choreographed illusion.

Markets

You may never have heard of LIBOR. It stands for London Interbank Offered Rate. It is an imaginary number created during a telephone conference call between a select few high level bankers. Basically, they just make it up. Once published, this rate affects interest rates and money transactions all over the world. Yet, it has no solid basis. It is the collective opinion of a small group of bankers who create financial "reality" in Imagination Land.

The money market as well as all other markets such as oil, gas and commodities are heavily manipulated. The planet Earth produces enough food to feed three planets the same size. However, because of manipulation, people starve and die and sometimes entire populations are wiped out. The masters of manipulation watch these things. They could easily correct events and prevent disasters. However, they will not. Their motivation, in a word, is simply greed. It rules their lives. They think of nothing else. Simple truths, if known, would end all this. Knowledge of free energy devices, for example, would collapse the energy market. That is why it is so important to make sure no one ever learns the truth. It would spell the end of Imagination Land.

Money

Most people believe the only way to get money is to earn it somehow. However, there are other ways. Governments simply print money when they need it. Banks have the power to create money from nothing.

Money is an imaginary force. It actually does not exist except in your imagination. However, once implanted in your imagination, this force can crush sovereign nations. John Perkins [6] was trained by the US NSA to go into unsuspecting countries and essentially "conquer them" using nothing but clever money manipulation tricks. The latin american countries he was assigned to conquer were totally crushed. Similar methods are now being used in Europe. Greece has now been conquered by clever money manipulation. To pay debts created by imaginary money, Greece has surrendered its physical country. Now, its pristine beaches will be privatized and the once happy citizens will find themselves on the now private beaches working as slaves to serve rich tourists from other countries.

However, it does not always work out that way. When the bankers went to Iceland armed with their calculators and ordered the country to surrender its land to them to pay imaginary debts, the country simply threw them out. The crooked banks failed. There was a tough period for the country, however today it is stronger than ever and the crooked money manipulators are either vanquished or locked away in prison. For details search using "Iceland defeated bankers".

Unfortunately, most countries have submitted to these scam artists. However, the example of Iceland should be a beacon to the world that you do not have to surrender to Imagination Land. You have the power to refuse if you will only realize it and use it.

Foreign Affairs

The general public is bombarded constantly with a sort of foreign affairs soap opera. This country hates that country. The US feels threatened by "whoever". Terrorists are everywhere. It never stops. Apparently, none of this crap is really true. It's just another part of "Imagination Land". Let's look at a couple of examples:

IRAN - a terrible country which hates us and we hate them. They have a secret crock pot somewhere cooking up a batch of uranium to make a bomb to blow us up but we don't know where it is. The "secret" diplomatic cables called the previous President of Iran "satan". Sure sounds bad!

Now, let's try some reality: In Washington, D.C., there are a group of men called "International Police". Actually, they work for the US. They have an official uniform but most do not wear it because they do covert activities. Cuba used to have the contract to supply the international police. When the US had a falling out with Cuba, however, they rounded up all the Cuban international police and killed them. Then they gave the contract to Iran which holds it to this day. So, the moral of this story is: If Iran is such a threat, why do we import Iranians, make them police and give them guns in, of all places, Washington, D.C.?

USSR - the "Russian Bear" - during the so called "cold war" period: Terrible, awful people who actually had nuclear bombs - quite good bombs, actually - who would vaporize the US "any day now" - so "duck and cover". However, the reality is that, during this period, the US was shipping tons of food aid - grains - to the USSR because they were having a food shortage. So, why would you want to feed the people who were supposedly plotting to blow you off the map?

THE CONCLUSION we need to accept and understand is that everything the general public is told about foreign affairs is fake. It is all choreographed propaganda and it is just another component of "Imagination Land".

Quality of Life

Many years ago some European aristocrats were looking at all the poor people. They said, look at these pitiful people. We should take some of our money and give these people clean water, good food and decent shelter. So, they did. Then, as time passed, they noticed that what they had done just stimulated the poor to make more poor who, logically, wanted more clean water, more good food and more housing. What a mistake! We don't even need these "people". How could we have been so stupid. So they decided to cut off the food, clean water and shelter assistance to correct their "mistake". You see, just as today, the elite only view the poor as some subhuman type of "service animal". Unless they need them for slave labor, they see no logical reason why they should exist.

Today, things are accomplished more subtly. First, you tell the poor that they have "equal rights". Then, you quietly give them processed food poisoned with dangerous additives, water poisoned with fluoride and housing they can't actually afford which will soon be taken back by the banks and leave them homeless.

Consequently, the quality of life is seriously degraded. Once you add epidemics of preventable diseases and unending fearmongering propaganda predicting every conceivable disaster, you sweeten the mix to the point that the poor will accept that they will always be poor and miserable and will "abandon all hope". Now, you have them just where you want them.

Of course, their plight, which they accept as reality, is just another part of Imagination Land. There is actually plenty of food. People suffer from disease because the cures are classified. The predictions of disaster are imaginary. The elite don't have any of these concerns. Their only worries are things like what country to pick for holiday and what orgy party would be best for the evening. Real hard decisions!

Off World Events

In a world where incredible amounts of information are available, it is difficult to filter everything so as to redact anything which might give ordinary people a glimpse of the truth. The desired party line that Earth is the only planet anywhere with life is finally starting to lose credibility. To make things worse, now that probes on Mars send back pictures, the censors sometimes make mistakes and overlook events. If you search youtube using the phrase "live animals on mars", you can see some of the pictures the censors failed to redact. Creatures clearly move from one location to another and even leave tracks - footprints - in the sandy soil. Some creatures look like ducks and others like rabbits. The Mars probes are for public propaganda purposes. Like the public space program, these projects are designed to reinforce classic misconceptions about space and time. The government has real space ships and can go to Mars whenever it pleases. There are no mysteries there which have not been discovered. However, only the select elite have access to this knowledge.

Why do we maintain Imagination Land. Why do we dedicate billions of dollars to create and sustain a false reality. Perhaps the best answer comes from an interview between two men cited by The Disclosure Project [5]. Dr. Steven Greer is talking to a military guy about UFO's. Both men know the truth and so they do not even try to lie to each other. The military officer justifies all the secrecy and cover ups by saying, essentially, "It is the same as when a dog marks its territory". So, his justification is that the ruling elite consider this planet to be "their territory" and don't intend to allow any other "dogs" [aliens, free thinkers, truth tellers, etc.] to enter. In other words, they do not want to share. They do not want anything - alien or domestic - that would loosen their grip on humanity. And, they intend to hold onto power by any means necessary as long as they can.

ENEMY OF THE STATE

Now that everyone knows the government is listening to their phone calls, watching everything they do on the internet and recording every place they visit with GPS, it is common to hear the response, "Well, I am not doing anything wrong so why should I be concerned that government spies are always watching me?"

The problem is that the general public simply does not understand what the government considers to be "wrong". Consequently, they have no idea that they may be considered an "enemy of the state". To get a grasp on the government's viewpoint, you need to understand their brand of "doublethink". You see, to them, "good" is actually "bad" and "bad" is actually "good". Anything which genuinely helps people and uplifts humanity is, in their opinion, "bad" because it upsets the status quo. However, things which hurt and terrify people are considered "good" because those things keep the general population - or "the herd" as they like to call them - under control.

Therefore, if you are involved in any activity which is likely to improve the plight of the average citizen, you will be considered a potential threat. If whatever you are doing appears to be succeeding, you may be "disappeared".

The government's criteria for determining who gets "disappeared" is: Anyone who is capable of influencing a large number of people and whose views are in opposition to the official party line of the United States.

Now, let's look at some examples:

John Lennon

John Lennon was clearly not a terrorist. He never harmed anyone. His message, "Give peace a chance", however, was a direct threat to the US economy which is based upon perpetual war. Because he was known and respected internationally, he fit the profile for an enemy of the state. Consequently, a Manchurian candidate was programmed and dispatched to kill him.

President Kennedy

Mr. Kennedy upset many people. However, there are a couple of events which stand out. It is important to understand these events.

One event was his Executive Order 11110. This order authorized the US treasury to switch to real money backed by silver. The US was using imaginary "fiat" money which is backed by nothing. This policy would have effectively destroyed the big banks. Reportedly, the Rockefeller banking family had requested that Mr. Kennedy be killed to protect their interests. Of course, this executive order was canceled after Mr. Kennedy's death.

The second event that you should familiarize yourself with was President Kennedy's last speech also known as "President Kennedy's secret society speech". You can watch it on youtube. Mr. Kennedy was, perhaps, a bit naive. He spoke of a world controlled from behind the scenes by secret groups and how he intended to initiate a new age of truth and openness where such groups could not operate. Obviously, if he had lived to fulfill this pledge, the world today would be completely different.

Unfortunately, the world and the United States are run by secret societies. The United States was created by the Masons and Mr. Kennedy was surrounded by Masons. Essentially everyone in the CIA [which Mr. Kennedy had threatened to dissolve and "scatter to the four winds"] as well as the NSA are Masons. The NSA has the secret authority to order a sitting US president killed. And, that is exactly what they did. William Cooper [1], a secretary to a US general at the time, stated he saw the secret order from the NSA certifying President Kennedy "a threat to the national security".

None of the Kennedys were Masons. They could not be Masons because they were Catholic and the Catholic church excommunicates Masons. So, basically everyone surrounding Mr. Kennedy who was a Mason knew he would be killed. The Kennedys, however, were clueless because the Masons communicate with secret signs, symbols and codes that only other Masons can understand.

Hugo Chavez

Hugo Chavez, as president of Venezuela, made the serious mistake of trying to improve the lives of ordinary people. He used some of the profits from the big US based oil companies, who were basically taking his country's oil for next to nothing, to provide housing, food and medical care to his country's disadvantaged. The people loved him. However, the oil companies wanted to keep all the money for themselves and their executives. They have no sympathy for poor people. So, Mr. Chavez was killed using one of the secret cancer causing agents. Unfortunately, the people of Venezuela rejected the US backed puppet and instead elected Nicolas Maduro to replace Mr. Chavez. Since Mr. Maduro shares Mr. Chavez's philosophy, you can bet plans are in the works to assassinate him too. The US will not rest until an obedient puppet is installed.

ML King & Malcom X

ML King and Malcolm X were both ordered killed by the US. The code name for killing Malcolm X was "Project X". Both men met the standard to justify assassination because they had large followings and were influencing those followings in ways which were considered to be against US interests. Such things cannot be tolerated. The absolute power of the empire must be maintained. Dissent must be crushed.

Jesus Christ

Jesus Christ is an early example of someone who threatened the established order and was put to death as a result. A simple fact has generally escaped the mainstream discussion of this man. To recognize that someone is such a serious threat that you need to kill them to silence them, you first have to be able to comprehend and understand their message. For example, you could probably attract a crowd in some public place by talking about, say, "flying pink elephants". However, no one would consider you a serious threat. If the messages Jesus delivered were previously unknown truths they would have sounded so strange to the established leaders that he would have most likely been ignored as some harmless kook. The fact that they felt threatened shows that they already knew what he was talking about. He was giving out secrets of the so called "mystery schools" to the general public. Today, we would call him a whistleblower. Knowledge of other dimensions has been known for many thousands of years. The ancient Egyptians knew all this stuff. It has been secretly passed down for countless generations. Jesus's crime was that he "crossed the line" and tried to enlighten ordinary people. He would have suffered the same fate today.

MUST WORK FOR FOOD

You are a slave. When you were born, your birth certificate was registered as collateral against the national debt. Your status as a slave is less obvious in the United States than it would be elsewhere.

For example, Saudi Arabia is a family owned country. It is the property of the Saud family. If you were born into this family, then you are a prince or princess and can do anything you please. If not, then you are property of the family. If a member of the family is pleased with you, you can have a great life. However, should you displease a member of the family you will have no life because you will be killed. If you are not a member of the ruling family, your life is subject to strict Sharia law. Marriages are arranged by parents. Birth control is prohibited. Women must be covered up when outside and escorted by a male relative.

However, for members of the ruling family, life is different. Princes live in palaces. These can be the size of a small town. Sharia law does not apply there. The palace girls who generally run around naked obviously need access to birth control. They would not be much fun if they were constantly pregnant. Although street drugs are illegal and possession is severely punished for the ordinary people, things are different in the palaces. I met a girl who was in Saudi because her husband was working there. They happened to get invited to a party held by a member of the Bin Laden family. Although she had used street drugs in the US, she was totally unprepared for the drugs freely available at the party. They were absolutely great. Nothing available in the US - legally or otherwise - could compare to what was available there.

In Europe and America, the reality that you are a slave is not so clear. However, the basic rules are the same. Members of the elite can do anything they please while ordinary people must obey strict laws.

Today, it appears that the spark of life, for want of a better phrase, has been lost. It was not always this way. We can see from the relics of the past that there once was a time when people would gladly choose death over a life of slavery. Slogans such as "Better Dead than Red" and New Hampshire's motto "Live Free or Die", which was adopted in 1945, reflect beliefs from an earlier time. No one seems to remember the visionaries who spoke of the "self evident truths" and "unalienable rights", i.e. rights that no one can take away, which included the absolute right to life and liberty.

Today, we gladly accept a world run by a small group of inbred aristocrats who worship Satan and have no concerns for the welfare of anyone other than themselves. Where did humanity go wrong. Why has humankind simply "lost it".

PROFIT

To begin I would like to relate a true story from my grandmother. She is deceased, of course, and this is a story of an experience she had as a young woman. Therefore, we are talking about an event from at least one hundred years ago. She routinely saw a dentist. Over time, she noticed that his fillings never gave her any trouble and never had to be redone. When she mentioned this, he replied, "No, you will never have any trouble with my work. For years I have worked to develop my own formula and my work will last for life and will never need service". She remarked that this was absolutely great and he should sell his invention. She was amazed to hear him say, "Sell it! I can't give it away. No dentist wants to do what I do. If fillings last forever they will lose repeat business and it will cost them profit".

You should realize that it is impossible to get competent service - especially medical service - when the desire for profit is a factor. The United States loves profit. So, as you might guess, health care in the US is the most expensive in the entire world. However, it is far from the best. The World Health Organization ranks the US as #37 - slightly better than Slovenia and a little worse than Costa Rica. But, the profit in the US is the best in the world. You see, in the capitalist US, doctors make money when people are sick but make no money when people are healthy and so do not visit them. Therefore, it is in their business interest to make sure people stay sick. Other countries use different models. Japan uses a model which deducts money from a doctor's pay whenever a patient assigned to him gets sick. Consequently, in Japan, it is not uncommon for people over 100 years old to routinely go to work each day in their little shops. Also, Japan prohibits the use of plastics and aluminum in products which may contact food. Consequently, when countries are rated from highest to lowest for Alzheimer's, the United States is #3 and Japan is #130 [7]. Aluminum is thought to contribute to Alzheimer's. Aluminum is a very reactive metal and so pure aluminum does not exist in nature. When we purify aluminum and use it to package food it can form dangerous compounds with those foods. Plastics mimic certain human hormones and so disrupt natural hormone balances. The US also adds aluminum compounds to vaccines which, in many situations, people are forced to accept.

The desire to maximize profit degrades products and services in all areas. It also seriously degrades the quality of life for workers.

The unquenchable thirst for profit is methodically destroying this planet. Crazy plans - you wonder what deranged mind can think these things up: Fish the blue fin tuna out of existence and store them in a guarded freezer so that, when they become extinct, you will be the only source and so able to demand any price and reap great profit because you exterminated a complete species. Go to a small country where indigenous peoples have lived for thousands of years. Destroy the land with strip mining. Poison the water with waste. Then take your profit and leave the native people with a destroyed homeland no longer capable of supporting life. Closer to home, consider fracking. Form a company. Set up a fracking operation which will poison the soil and ruin the ground water. Take your profit and declare bankruptcy, leaving the locals to clean up your mess at their expense.

You would think there would be a better way to live. But, of course, you would have to give up your addiction to profit.

THE WEAPONIZATION OF SCIENCE

The original purpose of science was the search for truth. It was a noble goal. The scientist sought to put aside prejudices and superstitions and seek verifiable facts. They sought to compile accurate and impartial knowledge in all scientific disciplines.

Great scientists like Nicola Tesla were not out to monopolize knowledge. Using equipment we would today consider primitive, Tesla was able to discover and demonstrate properties of electricity that remain secret to this day. All he had was an electric generator and a primitive tuned circuit consisting of a coil and capacitor set to resonate at 400 Hz. With this, he demonstrated that electricity could be obtained for free as well as some other amazing properties like accessing other dimensions with the correct frequency and doing experiments in time. He wanted to give all this away for free to benefit humanity. He died in poverty. The government confiscated everything he had developed.

As time passed, it was noticed that knowledge was power and that, if you had knowledge others did not have, you could use this fact to your advantage. Governments noticed this quite early in the game and designed various knowledge control systems. Knowledge was no longer freely available. The beauty of science transitioned into the power of science. Today people simply accept the "new normal" that they do not have the right to freely possess knowledge. You have to have a need to know the truth. You have to have permission from the government in the form of a security clearance to possess the truth and you have to promise never to tell the truth to anyone else. Why people simply accept that the government now owns the truth is not exactly clear. You would think someone would object. However the people - or sheeple - just submit and accept it.

Now that knowledge is a guarded commodity like, say, gold or silver, previously unknown concepts like "intellectual property" have sprung into existence. Private corporations, which often behave like nation-states, are allowed to declare knowledge they possess "secret" and hunt down anyone who tries to find out their secrets.

Today essentially all sciences have become weaponized. Knowledge is no longer used to benefit humanity but, rather, to take advantage of the innocence of humanity and wage war against others. Anthropology - basically the study of humankind - seems pretty innocuous. In his book, "Weaponizing Anthropology", author David Price explains how the US government seeks to recruit Anthropologists to obtain basic knowledge of other cultures so that it can use that knowledge to destroy those cultures. Clearly, this was not the original intent of the science. However, it is now.

Weaponized medical science creates threats to humanity that dwarf all the hype about nuclear bombs. Knowledge of genetics has opened the door to abuses that could alter all life in ways that are not completely predictable and are non reversible. We already have the Frankenstein plants and some animals. The permanent alteration of the human race is likely not far behind. The only temporary reprieve humanity has is that the total genetic encoding process is not yet completely understood. What is understood is scary enough. It is now possible to create a designer virus so specific that it will target and kill only one person. Viruses can also be tailored to wipe out specific races. Any group with a unique genetic signature can be targeted. Reportedly, some of the secret service people assigned to the President have "pooper scooper" duty. They need to collect and secure his waste to protect his genetic code from discovery. Today, if you have a complete sample of a person's genetic code you basically have the person. That is why US diplomats were told to secretly collect DNA samples of other diplomats at the United Nations.

In the documentary "Doctors of the Dark Side" [4], a professional explains the new interpretation of the "do no harm" policy. He explains that he considers it his sworn duty to "serve his client". However, "his client" is not the patient. His client is the government. If it pleases his client to design ways to torture people and he is able to accomplish this, then he considers that he has admirably done his job. Apparently, US national professional organizations agree. The leaders of the American Psychological Association voted to affirm that torture was totally acceptable.

Everything you can think of is being weaponized. Obviously, sciences like physics [build better bombs - time travel - space travel] and chemistry [poison gasses - mind control agents - explosives] have been weaponized for some time. However, you may have overlooked things like theatrical sciences. The CIA loves these people because of their training in special effects and the creation of realistic illusions which can be weaponized and used against enemies as well as domestically for sophisticated propaganda productions.

Since part of the new normal appears to be an unending war against pretty much everything and everyone, the original philosophy of science may well have been permanently lost to this world.

THE NANNIES

Nannies form an extrajudicial parallel justice system which operates outside the rules of the standard legal system. In the conventional justice system, there are codified laws and procedures. People are presumed innocent unless they can be proven guilty. Proceedings must be public. You have a guaranteed right to know the charges against you, to know and confront witnesses against you and to be represented by a competent attorney.

None of this exists in the world of the nannies. There are no laws. There may be "generalized guidelines". The opinion of the nanny is final. You are presumed guilty unless you can prove you are innocent. You have no guaranteed right to any sort of trial. The nanny is your judge, juror and prosecutor. Generally, the only way to challenge a nanny is to find another nanny of equal status who will contradict the first nanny.

Pet Nannies

Pet Nannies believe that your pets have more rights than you do. They like to sneak around and spy on people to make sure, for example, that their dog is happy. Does the dog look clean. Does the dog have a dog house. Is the grass in the yard cut properly. Does the dog see the vet regularly and have licenses and tags, etc. If the nanny is displeased, it can take your pet.

Health Dept Nannies

Health Dept Nannies make it their business to make sure you meet their standards for whatever they consider to be "healthy". A cute example was a person who lived in a house "off the grid". They used solar panels for electricity and collected rain for water. The local newspaper did a story about how energy efficient the person was. However, a health dept nanny saw the story and immediately ran over and condemned the house and put the owner, now homeless, out in the street. The nanny said it was their opinion that any house not connected to commercial power and water was not suitable for human habitation.

Social Work Nannies

Social Work Nannies, among other things, like to check on your kids. You see, the government believes your kids are its property. A social work nanny can come to your house, demand to search it and to interrogate your kids. The nanny does not need a warrant. Their opinion is all they need. Refusing orders from a nanny can have serious consequences. In a reported case, a family refused to allow the nanny to enter their home. The nanny called in the SWAT team which broke in, killed the parents - writing a report that they "committed suicide" - and grabbed the kids. The kids were sold into the foster parent market.

Psychiatric Nannies

The Psychiatric Nanny [psychiatrist] is the most dangerous model of nanny. This group of nannies actively practice eugenics. They meet in secret to create a model describing how they feel people should act, think and live out their lives. The model is then published in a book called the DSM which they sell. Anyone who deviates from the model is considered mentally ill. The model - or belief system - is created by the same basic process that religions use to create their special codes of thought, dress and behavior. A group of people simply get together and make them up. People are free to walk away from a religion if its model displeases them, however the psychiatric nanny is empowered by law to force people to live their lives according to its model. When a psychiatrist graduates from a school which has developed a relationship with the government, such as those who worked with the government on secret mind control experiments, it is common for the government agents to offer the graduate a top secret security clearance. This creates a sort of "super nanny" who has the power to do anything to a victim and cover it up using national security. These people are of great value to any government, such as the United States, which seeks to develop a totalitarian police state.

The process by which a victim is drawn into the clutches of these nannies follows a general pattern: People who are displeased with the person's choice of lifestyle meet in secret to discuss their objections. These objections, if affirmed by a psychiatric nanny, then become "charges" which are used to justify abducting the victim by force. The victim never knows what the charges are or who made them. This is considered "confidential". The victim is taken to a facility similar to the black site torture centers operated by the government. Because they have not been arrested for a crime, they have no Miranda rights. No one knows where they are and they cannot contact the outside world. The torture center - which is could be called a "hospital" or just a "treatment center" - does not have to admit they are holding the victim under medical secrecy laws. No one can get in to check and, of course, the victim cannot get out.

These pictures, secretly taken with a hidden camera, show scenes from the Judge Rotenberg Center. To watch the complete video, search youtube using this name.

In the picture above, a victim is wrestled to the ground by three guards.

Then, below, the victim is strapped down where he is to be given "treatment" consisting of painful electric shocks.

The "treatment" given here was certified as torture by a United Nations Special Rapporteur on Torture. However, this certification apparently has no legal standing in the United States and the center is still operating.

As a general rule, victims are forced to take drugs. These drugs are designed to accomplish three main objectives:

1. Sterilize the victim.
2. Cause the equivalent of a lobotomy by chemically disrupting normal brain functions.
3. Kill the victim by shorting their life span by about twenty five years or by about one third.

All three of these things would be illegal if done by physical means. It is illegal to surgically sterilize someone against their will just because you feel they are inferior. North Carolina recently started paying compensation to victims of this procedure. For more information search using the phrase "North Carolina eugenics". It is generally illegal to force someone to have a lobotomy by surgical methods. Obviously, it would be clearly illegal to kill someone because you felt they had lived too long. However, you can legally do all of these things to a person against their will using chemicals.

Psychiatrists believe that about 25% of the population are "defective". In the United States, this is approximately eighty million people. Their goal is to identify these people, capture them, sterilize them, brain damage them and kill them using slow poison.

Dr. Peter Breggin is a practicing psychiatrist who writes books and offers free videos on youtube explaining the truth about psychiatry. Search youtube using "Peter Breggin" to access the free videos.

SATANIC GROUPS

These are your leaders. [2]

This is what they look like when they get together for their secret rituals. They worship Satan. Essentially all major organizations on this planet are Satanic. This includes governments, religions and secret societies. Satan worship is the common link that binds all of them.

This is the meditation room at the United Nations. It is not a standard square room but is a trapezoid which symbolizes a pyramid with the missing capstone. Everything in the room is symbolic and has special meaning to those initiated into Satanic cults. The positions of the light and shadows have special meanings. The painting is filled with occult symbols. The dimensions of the room as well as the shape and weight of the stone have special meaning. The Satanists who run this world are completely versed in all of this symbolism.

There are many articles about the special symbolism as well as what rituals take place in this room. Search using the phrase "un meditation room".

ENERGY RAISING

All Spiritual paths understand the need for energy raising. There are various methods to do this. Followers of right handed paths or paths of good choose methods that are effective but do not harm others. However, followers of the left hand paths or paths of evil do not care how they get the vital energy they need as long as they get it.

There are two basic methods for the left hand path: These methods are sex magic and blood magic.

High blood magic rituals require human sacrifices. Children are preferred because they are innocent. By crushing the life out of the child in these rituals, the Satanists seek to absorb vital energies which make them stronger. This is classic black magic. These rituals are common in places like Washington, D.C. where it is easy for covert operatives to obtain young kids and national security protects the participants from discovery.

Other groups, like the Catholic priests, prefer sex magic. Raping young kids is another way to extract vital energy. Obviously, killing the kids is not an option for the priests because it would raise questions. As it is, the priests have successfully concealed their routine practice of child rape for over two thousand years. Society is only now beginning to catch on to this age old black magic practice.

THE DARK SECRET OF BAPTISM

Many parents automatically take their their kids to be baptized. They either don't think about it much or believe it is somehow necessary and beneficial. They never question what is actually taking place. Unfortunately, evidence [3] suggests that this is actually a black magic ritual which will Spiritually damage the child for life and make it impossible for this person to ever reach the stage generally called "God Realization".

Baptism closes [disables] the person's third eye. To deliberately do this is a Spiritual crime and prevents the person from accessing the natural psychic talents we all potentially have. Baptism also seals the Crown Chakra and so ends any hope the person can reunite with God. Baptism then creates a link to a specific belief system zone on one of the Astral planes where that religion maintains a base. This will direct the Soul to this zone when the person dies. The Astral planes are not Heaven. They are zones of illusion which most people mistake for Heaven. Souls which end up there must eventually reincarnate in a physical body.

If you wish to undo the damage done by baptism, it must be done while you are still alive. After death it will be too late. You will have to find a competent mystic who can reverse the black magic spell.

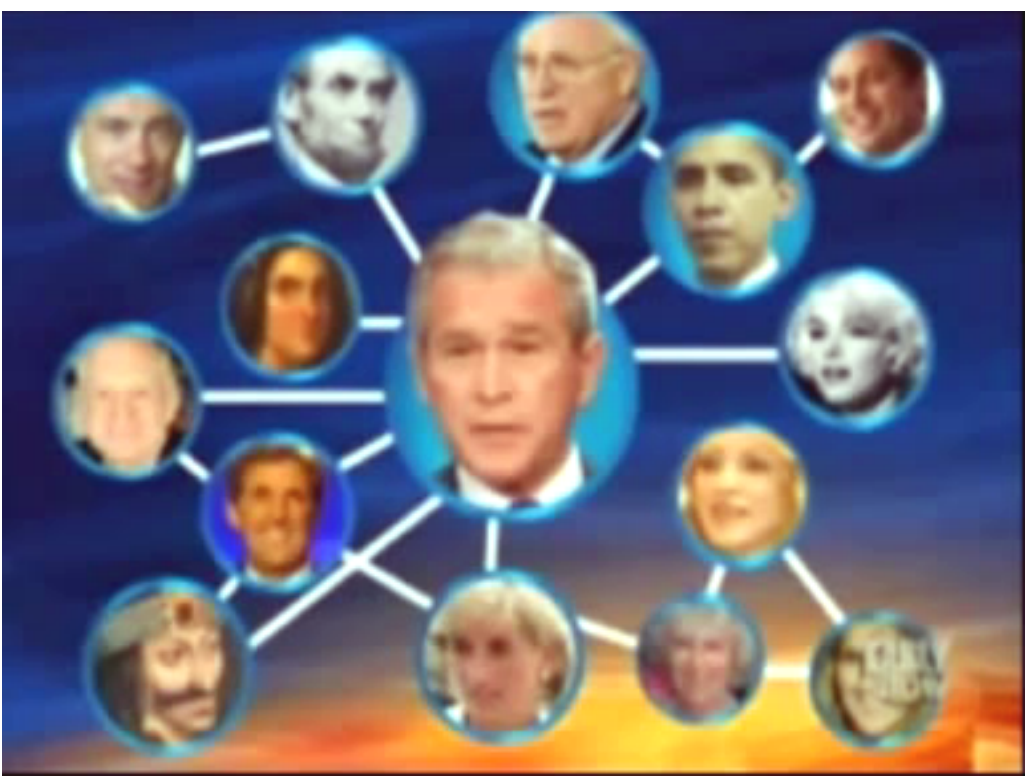

Without going into serious detail, here is what is happening: All major religions operating on Earth are Satanic. They capture Souls. None of them teach any meaningful Spiritual truths. They speak only of Heaven and Earth as if that is all there is. What they are calling Heaven is actually a compartment in the Astral world which links to their particular belief. It is a deception. Because the Astral world is constructed using a finer grade of matter, things there look bright and clean compared to Earth. Many places are exceedingly beautiful. It is easy to understand why someone who has never studied mysticism would be convinced they were actually in Heaven.

If you are interested in mysticism, please see our book "Essentials of Mysticism".

THE BLUEBLOODS

Throughout history, certain families have taken extreme care to preserve the purity of their bloodlines. Some argue that these bloodlines can be traced back as far as ancient Egypt. The possible link to ancient Egypt gives rise to the reptilian connection theory since it is believed that the Egyptians could not have accomplished their complex construction projects without outside help. This outside help would have had to come from extraterrestrials who could have mated with locals to produce a unique bloodline which survives today. We explain in our book "Practical Alien Info" why a reptilian cross would not produce a superior human but would, instead, produce a creature which was not human and was limited to animal desires and aspirations. Discounting the alien theory, we do know that, in an effort to preserve a pure bloodline, there was considerable incest. We know today that incest degrades the genetic code and will likely produce a weak and sickly offspring. That is why incest is generally legally prohibited. Incest was one of the original justifications for legal abortion before general abortion became legal. Although the bluebloods shy away from incest today, since they are preserving a genetic code degraded by incest in the past, they are actually deliberately preserving an inferior genetic line. They are definitely not "divine creatures" as they believe themselves to be [the divine right of kings]. In fact, their group profile shows them to be the embodiment of all the qualities ordinary people would view as repulsive. They are self centered. They are sociopathic. They have no conscience or compassion and they think only of themselves.

All of the people above are genetically related. [2]

Because many world leaders are actually members of a common family, when these leaders meet at their secret conferences these meetings would resemble family reunions more than constructive discussions. All these people want the same things. They want to make sure the world remains under their control and that their needs and desires are fulfilled by the work of the innocent, ordinary peoples of the world they have enslaved.

NWO MODELS

EVOLUTIONARY MODELS

The Bilderberg Model

The Bilderberg Model envisions a world without war. However, it also envisions a world without most of the people. It generally follows the Georgia Guidestone instructions. If you have never heard of the Georgia Guidestone, search using that phrase. This model seeks to eliminate most of the human population through covert sterilization methods. These methods are already in use and involve sterilization agents added to vaccines, GMO foods and chemicals added to foods. The final goal is to create an "invitation only world". You will need permission to live in this new world. There will be no war because only people perfectly suited and conditioned to be obedient, productive slaves will be allowed. Their population will be strictly controlled based upon the needs of the ruling aristocrats. There will, of course, be no restrictions on the ruling class. Much as in the present world, the rulers are free to do whatever they please and all their needs and desires are fulfilled by the working slave class.

The Master Race Model

This model envisions a world ruled by people considered to be superior beings because they have carefully preserved their bloodlines for thousands of years by interbreeding. In past times, this could involve women having kids with their sons or fathers having kids with daughters. They are a bit more discrete today. They believe their particular genetics make them superior beings. This idea was known as "the divine right of kings".

In order to guarantee that they remain superior, the plan is to make sure everyone else is inferior by encouraging interracial relationships. Hollywood productions and TV ads showing mixed couples are supposed to program the masses to accept this. This plan is already active and, in larger cities, gatherings of mixed couples are common. This model also includes a propaganda program designed to degrade men. Popular TV shows such as The Simpsons, Family Guy and American Dad portray men as fat, inept fools while portraying women as sexy, articulate and intelligent. The final proposed model under this plan is to have a ruling class of "purebreds" and a slave class consisting of a new subhuman race formed by the mixing of all races. There will be constant war as different groups of slaves are programmed with sophisticated propaganda to want to kill members of other groups. This model is similar to the world of George Orwell's 1984. The energy from constant war will be the economic engine which will maintain the economy in this world model. This model is partially active today.

REVOLUTIONARY MODELS

Both of the evolutionary models require time. The Master Race model may never work. These things have been tried before and failed. An excellent movie, "Rabbit Proof Fence", describes the plan to breed the Australian Aborigines out of existence by kidnapping the young girls and mating them with white settlers. Many lives were destroyed, however the Australian Aborigines survived and today their rights are protected.

The sterilization model would take perhaps a hundred years to complete.

The new world planners may not wish to wait that long. The masses have the power to destroy the elite if they wake up and realize what is being done to them. The longer the elite wait, the better the chance that the masses could successfully revolt. Consequently, they may consider plans which require less time. The elite have been methodically building a parallel world underground for well over a hundred years now. Huge cities connected by underground rapid transit systems exist all over the planet. There is plenty of space for the "chosen" to safely hang out while the surface population is eliminated by, say, a third world war using nuclear weapons. It is popular to promote the myth that such an event would make the surface unlivable forever. That may have been true but technology has advanced. There are secret techniques available to neutralize radiation. Also, the elite actually have a vaccine which protects them from radiation. This was the purpose of all the covert radiation experiments on people. Over 100,000 were killed in tests but a successful vaccine was eventually perfected.

WILD CARDS

The elite are arrogant. They easily crush dissent here on earth. However, lately, they have reportedly [5] been taking pot shots at extraterrestrials using secret magnetic pulse weapons to disable interplanetary ships which use an antigravity magnetic drive system. This is really not a good idea. Any sophisticated alien civilization could easily destroy the earth. A simple method would be to go to a safe distance from earth and gather up some rocks - meteorites, asteroids or whatever - and set them on a collision course with earth. Magnetic pulse weapons have no effect on rocks. Some could possibly be successfully be dealt with but not all. The earth would not survive.

REFERENCES AND CREDITS

[1] hourofthetime.com

[2] The "Red Shield" videos available on youtube

[3] personocratia.com

[4] RT International rt.com Also available on DVD

[5] disclosureproject.org also search for youtube videos by Dr. Steven Greer

[6] John Perkins: "Confession of an Economic Hit Man" (book), "Apology of an Economic Hit Man" (DVD) and free youtube videos and interviews

[7] worldlifeexpectancy.com

