I have intimate knowledge of what the US currently knows about UFOs minus the last two years.

- UFOs are primarily unmanned drones
- UFOs are built to spec each time they are deployed
- UFOs are created by a mobile construction facility that hides in the ocean
- Construction facility destroys anything that comes close to it and will disappear for days when approached aggressively
- US believes the facility has been active on earth for at least 100 years or much longer

Fire away on questions I'll answer what I can you won't be disappointed.

The US seems to believe so yes. There have been encounters but my information is limited since my specialty lies elsewhere.

>>34629685

>oumuamua

No.

>Is there a working theory on the origins, if so care to elaborate?

Quite a bit but we think the construction facility has been around since at least 4000 BC. See sightings/paintings from the early eras of history.

>Has any form of intelligible communication been established?

Yes, it also depends on your viewpoint. They mostly want very little to do with us until we start to talk about war and nuclear options. It's one of the reasons why you see them so often at critical events.

>>34629712

>do they know who or what is creating these craft?

Yes, as mentioned earlier the mobile construction unit is responsible for their deployment and construction >any potential that they are made by a higher branch of the U.S government?

Absolutely not.

> What allows them to fly so fast, what technology?

Gravity manipulation and the materials they are constructed from.

>>34629726

We think the construction unit is driven by AI. The response time to threats is almost instant and usually very calculated and well thought out.

>>34629743

You all should pay attention to this.

The majority of UFOs as I mentioned previously are built to spec and purpose. This is why they are always different sizes. The contents and equipment usually mimic the intended purpose too.

You asked if the particular UFOs we study are the result of a foreign government not if other governments have shittier versions. Speed alone tells us what we are looking at.

>>34630795

>Do the UAPs return back to the manufacturing unit?

Yes, some come in and leave the planet but very rarely. Usually, the same number that comes in goes out unless special circumstances arise. It feels more like a carrier but with construction capability.

>What are the purposes of the UAPs? Surveillance of humans?

The US believes they are not here to harm us. They only seem interested in us once they realize we are destroying things around us including each other.

One of the officials in charge said something that stuck with me. "They act like keepers of a zoo uninterested in the daily life of wildlife until there's a problem".

>>34631412

No idea that the project (if any) is likely kept separate.

>There were 2 rare elements found fused together that were under the mesa and I'm very curious what's going on there.

No idea about that either. The crafts we recover are built with numerous elements. Some aren't even obtainable here.

>>34632580

>Do you know if the entities behind the UFOs are native to the Earth? like an older civilisation, breakaway civilisation, or a civilisation of humans that escaped a previous cycle of cataclysm due to their advanced tech?

Limited expertise since my role is more craft/analysis. US believes they are foreign to our world, a previous cataclysm could make sense. They also show up in times of strife such as natural events.

>also I think that other guy who was talking about approaching the area without being attacked is a Remote Viewer.

I lurked on other boards but haven't really been to this one since I was comfortable with the answers I had. I wasn't aware that was a thing on here.

There were rumors among my coworkers that they had psionic abilities but honestly, it rarely comes up in a conversation. Give it a shot?

>>34632621

>Have you tried sending in a raft of hippies? The AI may not recognize them as a threat, jk...

Based on previous disappearances and acts of hostility we believe the construction facility (carrier) has learned what is and isn't hostile. Usually, it will just move away or stay deep under the water. It doesn't fire on civilian boats for example.

Exceptions apply we have seen one or two go missing usually after sharp turns etc.

>Any relation to Antarctica?

My section monitored just this craft and any interactions it attempted. A previous coworker did mention something in passing of Antarctica at one point but I ignored it if I'm being honest. Talking about other projects is considered career suicide.

>How about the destination of the space orbs, is Jupiter a potential destination? I believe they are keeping a massive Orb inside of the Gas Giant, though I have no evidence but many dreams of it.

No idea, if it is a project I haven't seen it. No orbs out of the construction facility just UFOs.

>What units have been lost approaching this construction machine? Why have they not sent a Seawolf to investigate...The jimmy carter with its nano tech...

Everything you can think of really. At one point nuclear missiles were being toyed with again and we deployed fighters and a sub with serious intent. Everything except the sub was lost.

>How have they come to the conclusion the UAP being released are ET? If they don't know what the UAP are to begin with, or if there is nothing inside them, its a pretty big jump to go right to ET...

They crash sometimes, parts fail and gravity engines near the surface of the planet can be like crossing an intersection. We recover these and sometimes find passengers. We mostly see drones now, back in the earlier days we saw a lot more piloted craft.

>>34632645

>Why do you not know anything about the last 2 years? Just curious

Moved on from the project because of new management that didn't trust older proven methods.

>Also >Lol, the last unit we saw approach the facility didn't even have time to communicate they were being attacked before it was over. Any details on what happened?

Normal approach details, pilot responsive and actively talking. The feed cuts out pilot still talking suddenly nothing. Poor guy likely had no idea it was likely a suicide mission. Based on what we've seen the construction facility has far superior weapons than the UFOs do. This weapon destroys the matter it hits entirely.

It also shits on anything electronic in the vicinity.

>>34632681

>The contents and equipment usually mimic the intended purpose too like the equipment share a pattern specific to its purpose?

Yes, usually when we find a thinner model for example it would have no pilot and a lot of sensory hardware.

My favorite is finding one that is fitted for research, if we are lucky we find things we have never seen before. Before I left we were looking at what we thought was a lab of some kind for genetics.

>are you talking about the one shaped like a pear or a burger?
Be more specific?

>Disregard its the burger ones isn't it

Size, shape and speed are usually the factors we use to determine what the purpose of the UFO is. We get it wrong sometimes. They can be quite large and both pear and burger shapes are known "builds".

>Is this the burger shaped ones or the pear shaped ones
Both.

>I've had 2 orange orbs approach me to within 100 ft one night. Glowing translucent, but rather dim like the setting sun seen through smog. They were flying in 45 degree formation like this.
°• about 50mph.

Research/science vessels sometimes have mobile light-producing "cameras" used for multiple purposes from scouting to keeping threats contained or at bay. These are shaped like hammers and when operated are extremely bright.

Red lights are a sign of hostility or caution to deploy weapons. Orange lights are usually for spotting minerals or living things.

>As soon as I blinked my flashlight at them, they accelerated to several thousand knots and disappeared over the horizon.

Searched youtube and found several videos of the same objects, mostly near San Diego.

I'm not surprised, the range on those is quite large. The UFO was likely somewhere above you quite high up.

>Is the underwater base near Catalina Island creating these?

No, this one has only left the Atlantic Ocean twice. Both times were before I arrived.

>>34632862

>Are "aliens" human or humanoid?

Humanoid, very humanoid.

>>34632869

>then, do you know anything about abductions, forced breeding programs, etc. ???

Bodies are removed before we are allowed to perform work. We definitely see some passing by hence changes in "Older proven methods" by new management.

>also, real true disclosure any time soon?

The Air Force is extremely frustrated with the lack of progress on their end. We felt similar but are unable to share details with them.

>So I'd assume this was a sort of AI design that seems to be advanced yet already prepared for the git go

Can you rephrase this? Basically when designed to let's say be a miner you will usually see hardware dedicated to resource collection on the vessel.

If the vessel is something scientific you may encounter things like tools and as previously mentioned something akin to a lab. We thought of it more as a "I need to go hiking" so the construction facility builds you a car (UFO) and packs it full of hiking supplies and even adjusts the shape to fit what was packed.

>>34632875

>Do you think there are fewer piloted crafts because the population of the facility (if any) is declining?

No, the common consensus is that they are just being careful. I've heard recovery of living pilots usually doesn't go well for either of us.

We suspect they piloted a lot of initial craft due to early complications (we also saw more crashes).

>Any bodies recovered show any ranges of aging we can recognize? I wonder if most of the inhabitants are either old or dead at this point. Though younger bodies would disprove that I suppose.

No idea about age, not my specialty, and asking about it would have been a net negative ESPECIALLY now. Previous higher-ups were getting better about being open with information since discovery happened quicker.

"New" engine was deployed with a very large model that I had never seen before. We usually see three to five gravity producing "engines" This one had seven. Favorite object or find? Probably the "lab" since we never fully understood how it worked before it was destroyed.

>>34632887

>Makes me wonder whether a meaningful distinction between scientific study and amusement still exists for them, if it ever did.

This was before my time but they talked about a "bus" UFO that had more occupants than hardware. Most of the intended purpose appeared to be for physical viewing. I wondered if they ever just wanted to look at the animals.

>>34632894

Have any retarded cousins that destroy everything they touch? When do you want to see them again?

>>34632915

>This is a strangely recurrent theme. At a minimum the have psychotronic devices of some sort.

This reminded me of something in my first year. UFO crashes they remove the bodies well before my team arrives. We start to look and the craft is unpowered at first, a few minutes later the craft powers on and starts to close up. We radio out and get a response from the unit removing one of the occupants (alien) that they are working on it.

Ship powers off and the other team asks if we are good to go. No mention of how access was possible, I suspect the pilot may have interfaced with the ship by remote or psionic ability.

>>34632916

>Not really translucent, but maybe the outer 'shell' was. They definitely had an inner core that wasn't see-through.

Lots of tools they use produce light. If this is still about the "orb" the shell you may have seen was just the light around the device I called the "hammer".

Atlantic, I don't know of others. The mention of something in the arctic was weird and brief when it came up.

I guess global conflict wasn't a good term lol; I meant more of tension. The nuclear site incursions, the airspace violations has also been increasing tensions. From what I understand, the Roswell incident increased tension between US and Soviets. There's security tensions behind other countries gaining access to information or materials surrounding the phenomenon. There has been great domestic tension within the US (intel agencies, military, disinformation campaigns, etc...)

Sauce? Might let me give you more insight.

>Was it by accident of them not knowing we'd be damaged by their equipment or do they not care?

If found they usually monitor us. If approached at an uncomfortable distance they flee. When cornered it doesn't end well.

Their tools can do harm to us even for just scientific purposes. We think they just don't care.

>Do you believe we are under their control in some way? Or where sometime in history?

Possibly but I have no way of knowing. The higher-ups I worked for seemed hellbent on discovering more about them. Usually not a quality found among controlled beings.

>What were the main reasons for the crashes? I'd think random lightning or freak accident seeing how advanced they are You'd be surprised how many mistakes they make, especially the further back you look. One area they seemed to avoid like the plague we suspect is due to issues with gravity and flight. Before they figured it out we collected quite a few mishaps there. They've tried to shoot some down mostly over nuclear incidents but failed miserably.

>>34633434

>Did you see written symbols in the craft?

Yes, usually marked by doorways and key objects. Written language appears frequently on tools and critical items.

>Also it reads like their objective is to observe and preserve

I agree. The idea was pitched that they are waiting for us to mature or perhaps something bigger to arrive and they don't want us to ruin the planet in the meantime.

Once again my knowledge was cut off about two years ago. If you mean very recently my guess would be the Russians and US having a little secret dance amongst themselves. When nuclear ANYTHING gets involved we see large deployments for long periods of time. Strife seems to be the catalyst.

>Also, what is your scariest experience while engaging with the phenomenon? What was your favorite? If any Doors closing on us as mentioned above made me wish I had brown pants. Still fascinated with the "lab" we found. It was damaged by accident and I never really got much time with it.

Yes, we used to laugh at Russian and Chinese designs. We stopped laughing at China when they produced an operational (but buggy) version of their mining equipment. Still stumps most of our engineers, China also lies out of its ass but from what we saw we deemed it operational and working.

Countries listed above have flight-capable craft, just not very good ones.

I'm honestly surprised no one has asked about the energy source or internals.

One example was shortly after I joined they said one was downed but two occupants were alive. The first team couldn't get close without being attacked. Aliens never seem to recover their lost UFOs for whatever reason so they just waited a few days until they died then recovered the UFO. Hostility is usually their last option.

>>34633639

Genuinely confused about what you're asking me. Recruitment isn't something easy if that's your goal. They usually recruit people with extremely clean background checks and I never saw anyone under 35.

>>34633649

What is the energy source? You mentioned Bob so I think I know already.

Correctish the power source is E115 the thing no one talks about is that usually, they seal it within the craft because it produces its own gravity field. Bob Lazar handled E115 which was already pulled out which is rare and weird. Protocol now is that only one person is allowed to handle E115. I was forbidden from touching or interacting with it.

We still have trouble producing this shit too.

>>34633707

>How do UFOs travel, in the context of those tic tac reports and Bob Lazars report/video where they seemingly jump through spacetime and light to appear in a new location....

>Notice how it just phases to a new location? Like staggers?

This is common when moving at high speed from a standstill or slow speed initially. Gravity distorts time and the object inside the field can "stagger" when traveling.

>>34633821

>I've heard the craft can detect the presence of a camera and when someone is filming them

Not unless the craft is put into a mode to detect a lense no. If the UFO is standing still or hovering though they won't miss you. You can see a face like you're standing in front of someone a couple of miles out doesn't look like a camera though their eyes are different.

>What do you know about this claim?

Sadly not enough to give you a good response. Remote viewing is a very strange thing; it's shown to work at times but most of the time it doesn't (or the conclusions have fuzzy connections, as if forced).

As for the interdimensional aspect of it, I don't believe there's anything actually interdimensional-ly happening; it's just our best way to try and grasp/perceive what's going on behind the veil. From what I understand, whatever is behind the phenomenon has the ability to manipulate matter/energy in similar ways that we can manipulate information (we can create 3D realities and manipulate them via our understanding of machine code and linear algebra).

It also seems to be able to play around with spacetime, almost as if we are sitting on (or perceiving) time that's been homogeneously transformed (into projective space) while they are free to move about homogeneous space. If they haven't entered the projection space, then they could freely move about our space without interacting with it until they collapse their space/coordinates into our projective space (normalizing their position with their homogeneous coordinate)

>What materials are these UFOs made of

That answer gets complicated quickly. Short answer is an alloy that we cannot reproduce but only repurpose. This alloy is kind of like a "film" that fits over the frame of the craft. I mentioned they were built to spec that's exactly what I mean the shape is always efficiently designed.

The actual frame itself is heavier and composed of more elements. Both of these alloys have a lot of elements we cannot reproduce. One of the main problems when repurposing these alloys is getting them hot enough. They absorb heat very well and shaping the metal is a tedious process.

>>34634422

>Can you quickly walk through the process of identifying the contents of a crashed UFO craft?

First team leaves that deals with occupants and initial discovery. We arrive and meet with an external member of the team who can touch and examine parts we are not allowed to interact with.

We never have to cut our way into the UFO. We enter the first order of business is checking for E115 then leaving the ship together to send it away. We return and look for any tools and loose objects that can be extracted. We then start to strip any specialized components on board such as sensory equipment or navigation.

We leave and a third and fourth team arrive likely to remove the bulk of the craft.

Some of the tools designed for abduction would make you rethink this. A lot of them cause pain or harm. A common tool we find is one that seems to scramble coherent thoughts and make the subject childlike. The best way I can describe its use is like forcing a stroke without actually having one, it makes you delirious but also childlike for a few hours.

>Are these beings incapable of empathy?? Do they have emotions? I assume they must have learned something from the recovered bodies...

Never interacted with them only heard information passed along. They can be upset though with previously mentioned topics. They definitely have emotion.

You might get a laugh out of this. The USAF is kept in the dark. We operated above them, a close coworker wondered if even the president knew. Namely, Trump because we both thought he would just tell everyone.

>Any idea what they might be waiting for Personally, I think they just want us to grow and become sentient. UFOs arrive all the time and dock with the mobile construction unit. The way I see it travel time is quite fast, if something was coming to destroy us it would have arrived already.

Each of them do their own thing. US is pretty greedy with what it finds. We will usually extract information but never offer any in return.

>What is the mining tool China has supposedly reverse engineered capable of?

Hard to explain if you haven't seen it. Basically it extracts the minerals via beam/light directly out of the rock. It has the ability to "fill" the rock to some degree.

China was able to figure out how it works and make a similar version. The problem with the one they built is it only operates for a few seconds before it runs out of power. They still don't understand E115. It also exploded one time and they had to remake it.

>Are the made to spec craft you describe just the metal looking spheres observed and brought up in the latest AARO hearings? Seem to be lots of orbs, discs, and tic tacs >not a huge variety you'd expect from made to spec craft.

Yes this is exactly why they always look so different. Things like Triangles and hard edged squares don't exist though. Pill shapes are extremely sought after and some we think are "freighters".

The best analogy I can give for the variety/spec comment is think of it like wrapping food in tin foil on a plate. It's a bad analogy but you get the idea, usually they will always be round or oval sometimes even pill shaped. The tin foil fits the intended function of covering everything without squishing it.

>Do they just not like humans, and like the planet? Whats to stop them from just culling us all?

They could absolutely destroy us if they wanted to. They have started launch sequences before that we suspect were tests on "what they are dealing with".

My personal view is they have to stay out of our way but keep us from destroying ourselves. I imagine life elsewhere in the universe often destroys itself.

>Do you think we will get more answers from the government, "disclosure" as in them telling us aliens exist? or will the coverup continue?

At one point they briefed us about opening up information about the craft but not the construction unit. Nothing happened for months. New leadership shows up suddenly its back to bullshit and secrets again.

>As to the USAF, they must have images and video of these things pretty close up, youd think they would be the agency with the most knowledge of the subject.

The USAF's goal is to fight other countries. They have footage but it was mostly discovered and recorded by sheer chance. The Space Force however will be an entirely new thing. Their focus is similar to ours with a sprinkle of disinformation.

Most of what we use for things that cannot be replaced is recycled. Our ability to rehash their shit has gotten better slowly.

They set aside certain amounts for research. Most of it goes towards reuse.

>>34637150

>Is there tech that was gained from these craft. That the military widely uses today, or civilians for that matter?

A lot of your stealth aircraft sport smoother designs for one.

Most of what I saw was way above us. It's hard to put the "hammers" and how you see through them into words. It's not like a drone camera and it's not a clear image (to us at least).

>can you clarify?

They have a distinct fascination with radiation. Remember how I mentioned they don't go far from home base? When Fukushima happened the construction facility deployed multiple UFOs to the location over multiple weeks.

They were also very interested in Ebola at one point. We can't confirm abductions there since the local population is... You get the idea no one cared.

Do you mean orbs in the sky? Or do you mean landed craft deploying them? I've mentioned previously that there are tools that are shaped like "hammers" They emit extremely bright light and are used as a sort of drone or scout.

They are able to view almost 360 degrees and detect everything from minerals to bio. If a human encounters them they usually are deployed to keep watch and figure out when to wrap up and leave.

>2. do you think they interfere with our general science or investigations?

Yes, they do not want to be studied. They also do not collect downed craft or occupants it seems to be an "oh fucking well" approach.

E115 is the exception they don't seem to enjoy the idea of us toying with it.

>Do they seem to learn when the craft get caught?

Yes, there is an area they actively avoid in Mexico among others. They also deploy more drones than piloted craft unless absolutely necessary.

>do they become harder to capture next time?

Yes.

>3. is the technology they reproduce increasing rapidly or lags for years?

I wouldn't say it's an increase in technology. It's more like adjustments/better understanding of how to operate.

It's one reason we thought "about 100 years" for the first deployment of the construction facility. If were here for years we would have seen the majority of all adjustments made.

Both, we rely mostly on detecting the gravity it produces. It normally doesn't produce heat outright. When it does we believe it's in the process of construction since a small heat buildup can be detected when a craft returns or exits. We think this happens when it's being broken back down into parts or assembled.

We can only detect these heat signatures when it's near the surface of the ocean so sometimes a UFO will pop out on us.

We don't obtain the information directly it's passed along to us. My guess would be the typical way we get anything such as spying or bribery.

My department sits above the USAF for UFO recovery and information in the same way the USAF sits above me on military plans for Ukraine.

We were told at the time if we had to give away information only tell the public what the USAF knows.

The way these are constructed you cannot take an existing but damaged craft and just add on spare parts from another close it up and call it good. Human "repairs" only go so far on existing craft. Instead, we have a much shittier iteration of what they build. Some parts are not reused they are just materials for testing or research.

Once again could be that I explained the process too poorly. We don't reassemble them, we quite literally bum parts and try to make our own, and some parts of the craft we make have to be human-made substitutions. The mechanism for piloting is one such part. We also add things.

Openly stated to us discovery for internal use and disinformation to the public.

>What can we as a populace do to encourage your bosses to lighten up?

This has always been on my mind. I think if we convinced another nation like China or Russia to come out the US would have to come out as well.

I think having the USAF release their footage was a way to jumpstart Space X in a way.

>the pentagon has already reported that the legit UAPs are "off-world vehicles not made on this earth" while OP is claiming they are made in a facility in the oceans.

I stated multiple times we've seen them come and go from the planet. We suspect the construction facility is capable of space travel as well.

>He also stated that they were all unmanned

Reading comprehension issue. I said most of them are unmanned today. This is not strictly the case and in prior years we dealt with piloted craft quite often.

Correct.

About once every 10 years for the US. We suspect other countries have had similar issues and reactions.

>What kind of reaction is there when these events occur?

A higher-up joked months after the last one I saw that "The phone rings everywhere but the president's office"

The sub didn't arrive in time. Fighters probably never saw the end coming.

>Your answer on tools you found in vehicles makes you seem like you are LARPing. There must have been more advanced and intruding tools than fucking toothpick.

I had to think a bit about this one for multiple reasons and I think I'll cover the abduction tools in greater detail.

There are tools that induce a child-like state or something akin to having a stroke, we covered that.

The tools I didn't talk about are ones that are designed to take objects the size of pills and push them deep into your tissue and stomach. These tools aren't friendly and don't account for extreme pain.

There's also another tool that looks like a circular battery you would find in a key fob. Designed for keeping your eyes open when deployed. It also stops the eye from moving almost perfectly.

These craft never really went near the artic either.

They consistently mine gold.

Interesting you mention lidar.

>tools with antigravitational properties, or any portable antigravity devices?

Very few. Lots of them emit radiation.

>close encounters are seen with red lights and some orange?

Orange is a mineral/bio-scanning mode. Since most people see orange up close you're likely being scouted/selected for an abduction. It can see your heart beating and even the valves pushing the blood inside just to add some perspective.

>red should be "defence" mode. Just wondering why some close encounters are with red lights.

Correct. Red lights are considered defense mode. If red lights are present chances are the craft wants to leave and has to keep an eye on you while they wrap up.

Red also allows very accurate calculation of distance and can detect hostility based on facial expression etc. If a weapon is fired the "beam" is white.

>Do these ships emit any kind of radiation?

Yes.

>landing places always have traces of radiation, is this BS or is there anything behind it.

This is mostly correct. The source is not the landing and is the craft itself.

Lasers. You see lasers everywhere even in retail.
